

Portaflon™ Portafilter

A new invention that makes cleaning ridiculously easy and every shot taste better

Easier cleaning

The Portaflon™ Portafilters are extremely easy to clean compared to traditional portafilters. The secret behind this is the interior surface of the Portaflon™ Portafilters. It is a brand new coating with extreme non-stick properties, specifically developed for the Espresso market. When using a traditional portafilter you will experience coffee residue building up on the interior brass surfaces. These are very difficult to remove, and often you will have to use harsh methods in order to succeed. With the Portaflon™ Portafilters all you have to do is use a regular dishcloth and wipe off the interior, thanks to the superior non-stick coating. No more detergents or soaking over night to rid the portafilters of coffee residue.

Better taste

With the Portaflon™ Portafilters you will avoid the unpleasant tang usually experienced when using traditional portafilters. This is caused by the above mentioned coffee residue sticking to the portafilters and also by the coffee chemically reacting with the brass surface. The Portaflon™ non-stick coating has absolutely no impact on the taste and this makes every Espresso taste better. A clean cup every time.

Technical description

The Portaflon™ products are original brand parts coated with a unique (patent pending) non-stick material developed specifically for the Espresso industry by the Swedish Espresso entrepreneur, Portatech in cooperation with market leading coating manufacturers. The Portaflon™ coating material is a fluoropolymer compound with extreme non-stick properties. The Portaflon™ coating is in appliance with the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) standards.
